Tips for September Continue

feeding every two weeks. Gather some wild specimens, especially seedlings. September is a good time to locate and mark larger specimens of deciduous plants which you might want to dig in the winter. Use a spade and do some initial root pruning. Insects and disease are especially attracted during this warm and wet season so be on the lookout. Continue refinement pruning to better shape plants. This is also a good time to think of what you need to show your trees at Joy of Bonsai in the way of companion plants, scrolls, stands. It's never too early to plan ahead for this show.
